

Biographic note: Dr. Andrzej Eljaszewicz is a basic scientist specializing in immunology and regenerative medicine. He is a graduate of the Faculty of Medicine at the Collegium Modicum in Bydgoszcz, Nicolaus

Copernicus University of Torun, trained in medical biotechnology. Following his Ph.D. studies in medical sciences at Nicolaus Copernicus University, he joined the Department of Regenerative Medicine and Immune Regulation at the Medical University of Bialystok. Dr. Eljaszewicz received numerous scholarships, including the Ministry of Science and Higher Education Scholarship for Outstanding Young Scientists and the CK-CARE Scientist Exchange Program Scholarship. His involvement extends to roles within the Bialystok branch of the Polish Society for Experimental and Clinical Immunology, where he serves on the board and formerly served as the Chairman of the Audit Committee at the central level. Additionally, he held a board position within the Basic and Clinical Immunology Section of the European Academy of Allergy and Clinical Immunology (EAACI) from 2019 to 2022. He co-leads a task force under the EAACI Research and Outreach Committee (ROC). He presently holds positions as a research group leader and Deputy Director at the Center for Regenerative Medicine at the Medical University of Bialystok.